Services

Data is at the heart of your analytics. Before you can dive into any sales analysis, you need to understand the metrics and key performance indicators (KPIs) you're looking at and why you're measuring them. Your team can track and analyze a variety of sales metrics, including:

01 Sales Growth

Sales growth shows how much your revenue increases (or decreases) over a specific period of time. This metric provides a bird's-eye view of sales and how your team is performing.
